Programme overview

This micro-credential is designed to provide the skills and knowledge required to support a person with a disability in a health or wellbeing setting. It is also designed to support outcomes that enable them to live a good life in Aotearoa New Zealand, and for the support worker to reflect on their own practice.

Careerforce Micro-credentials

Micro-credentials are short, NZQA recognised training programmes that have fewer credits than a qualification (between 5 and 40) and either lead into a qualification or focus on specialised skills and knowledge that top up a full qualification certificate or apprenticeship programme. They can also be coherent standalone programmes of specialised skills or professional development.

Careerforce micro-credentials are designed to credentialise the achievement of a coherent set of skills and knowledge; and is specified by a statement of purpose and learning outcomes.

How the learning is delivered and assessed

This programme is delivered in the workplace, with the support of the employer and Careerforce.

Online learning and assessment can be completed through Aka Toi, Careerforce's online learning platform which includes interactive learning activities, theory content and assessment.

Workplace and learner requirements

Workplace: The employer is responsible for coordinating the learner's on-job training activities and support in the workplace. Employers are encouraged to work alongside Careerforce to support staff to remain motivated and successful in their learning journey.

Learner: Learners are encouraged to try to manage their work and training commitments as best they can and complete them within the timeframe agreed between themselves, their assessor and their employer.

Learning outcomes:

- The ability to understand Enabling Good Lives initiatives and the impact on future support services in Aotearoa New Zealand.
- The ability to understand different service philosophies used in a wellbeing setting.
- The ability to work alongside a person to reach their personal goals and aspirations.
- Being able to evaluate their own practice.

Prerequisites

Learners need to be working in a relevant disability support sector that enables them to meet all micro-credential outcomes.

Learners are also required to have reasonable computer literacy as micro-credential assessments are only offered online (via Aka Toi).

Grants and funding available
