Programme overview

This micro-credential is designed to recognise the skills and knowledge required to develop knowledge and understanding of suicide prevention in Aotearoa New Zealand.

Careerforce Micro-credentials

Micro-credentials are short, NZQA recognised training programmes that have fewer credits than a qualification (between 5 and 40) and either lead into a qualification or focus on specialised skills and knowledge that top up a full qualification certificate or apprenticeship programme. They can also be coherent standalone programmes of specialised skills or professional development.

Careerforce micro-credentials are designed to credentialise the achievement of a coherent set of skills and knowledge; and are specified by a statement of purpose and learning outcomes.

How the learning is delivered and assessed

This programme is delivered in the workplace, with the support of the employer and Careerforce.

Online learning and assessment can be completed through Aka Toi, Careerforce's online learning platform which includes interactive learning activities, theory content and assessment. Learning is also available via the Le Va LifeKeepers training programme.

Workplace and learner requirements

Workplace: The employer is responsible for coordinating the learner's on-job training activities and support in the workplace. Employers are encouraged to work alongside Careerforce to support staff to remain motivated and successful in their learning journey.

Learner: Learners are encouraged to try to manage their work and training commitments as best they can and complete them within the timeframe agreed between themselves, their assessor and their employer.

Grants and funding available

Several grants and funding options are available to help meet the costs of attaining Careerforce qualifications. You can view these options at careerforce.org.nz/fees-funding

Learning outcomes:

- The ability to explain suicide and suicidal ideation in an Aotearoa New Zealand context.
- Recognising causes of suicide and the prevalence.
- Being able to identify and explain the roles of natural, local and national supports.
- Following procedures used in a local suicide prevention strategy.
- Identifying and explaining response types and approaches for a person experiencing suicidal ideation.
- Being able to describe postvention roles and supporting the bereaved.
- Explaining their own legal obligations and role boundaries.
- Appreciating the impacts of suicide on themselves and other support workers, and approaches to self-care.

Prerequisites

Learners need to be working in a relevant sector. Learners are also required to have reasonable computer literacy as micro-credential assessments are only offered online (via Aka Toi).
