New Zealand Certificate in Health and Wellbeing (Level 4)

Rehabilitation Support | Brain Injury Strand

Qualification and programme overview

This qualification is delivered as an apprenticeship that is well-supported and resourced with a team of Apprenticeship Advisors providing pastoral care and support.

The Apprenticeship in Brain Injury Rehabilitation Support gives your staff the training they need to support the rehabilitation of a person after a brain injury.

Employees will learn the tools and strategies to help the people they support, their family and whānau to maximise independence and participate in life roles.

The programme includes recognising and developing the following competencies in your staff:

- Developing relationships and supporting the achievement of intended outcomes.
- Working collaboratively with health professionals to support the health and wellbeing of a person with rehabilitation potential.
- Actively contributing to a culture of professionalism, safety and quality in your workplace.
- Providing personal and/or peer leadership in a health or wellbeing setting.
- Working alongside people, family and/or whānau in a rehabilitation setting to maximise their independence and achieve their rehabilitation goals.

Learning and assessment resources

Online learning and assessments can be done through Aka Toi, the Careerforce online learning platform. Access to interactive learning activities, theory content and assessment is now available for this qualification.

Supporting you

Careerforce is the Industry Training Organisation (ITO) for the growing health and wellbeing, social and community, cleaning and urban pest management sectors. We support employers to implement workplace-based training, enabling employees to achieve nationally recognised qualifications and deliver positive outcomes.

Every year we help thousands of trainees to get recognised qualifications and progress their knowledge and skills to improve their practice. With the right training programme, staff are able to contribute to their organisations and provide quality support to many people.

We are there every step of the way: from workforce development planning, to helping you establish a training culture, including training your workplace assessors, to providing rich and relevant resources and connections with the wider sector.
